FINforums NYC Summit to Present 360° Perspective on Hedge Fund Industry

NEW YORK—July, 14 2011—An A-list of asset managers, geopolitical analysts and institutional investors will gather September 14, 2011 at the FINforums Annual Hedge Fund Summit to take stock of the industry and outline the challenges ahead. Frank Ahimaz, who took over the Museum of Modern Art's $818 million portfolio at the height of the credit crisis 2008, and two dozen other experts will discuss:

- The global outlook for Q4 and beyond
- The best investment strategies for finding alpha
- Techniques for successful marketing and capital raising
- Regulatory and compliance updates
- The rise of alternative hedge fund structures

John Seigenthaler, former NBC News Anchor and current CEO of Seigenthaler PR-NY, will chair the day-long event, which will be held at the Princeton Club in midtown Manhattan. Joseph McAlinden, Chief Investment Officer, Catalpa Capital Advisors, will give the opening remarks. Following panel discussions, FINforums will present an institutional investor roundtable. The summit—sponsored by Smarsh and Eze Castle Integration—will be capped by a cocktail reception. Speakers include:
